As you will see from the screenshot, I have simply added the menu block to the 'Menu Bar' region and it gives me the services link which I am after but also includes the child pages of services. I did notice in the page.tpl that there is a line of code which automatically pulls through the following;

<?php print render($page['menu_bar']); ?>
<?php if ($primary_navigation): print $primary_navigation; endif; ?>
<?php if ($secondary_navigation): print $secondary_navigation; endif; ?>

I am thinking that I need to change this, I can render out the primary and secondary code and it leaves the navigation I have entered but still displays incorrectly.

I have checked this using the garland theme and it works as it should. Can someone shed some light on why its not operating as it should.

Thanks